Concluding statements

Tor Bremer

Vice chairman of Sogn og Fjordane County Council
Vice president of Euromontana

Torino 09.03.2007

First of all thanks:

- To Torino as lead partner
- To Euromontana staff for coordinating
- To the partners and experts for valuable contributions

You have created a beginning

You have given us work to follow up

Thanks to every one of you for valuable contributions during this conference.

Your contributions will influence the final report

The project documentation and the findings will be available:

- on CD
- on www.euromountains.net
- final report deadline: end of March

The final report is the responsibility of the project.

The partners will hopefully take advantage of the findings and find ways of taking the work further.

- There is a need to go more detailed into development issues, to involve grass-root level and thus produce more concrete outputs
- There are also issues that could be followed up by analyses - contributing both to the coming "green book" on mountain areas or to future European spatial planning

On behalf of Euromontana:

- We will discuss the recommendations from the project
- We will find ways to take different recommendations further in our work
- We will promote main ideas from the project in different lobby actions - the project being of special importance for our contributions to the coming green paper
- We will back project initiatives that take the work started in Euromountains.net further
- Euromontana could play a role in connecting future mountain related projects

A final point of view on behalf of myself:

- I learn a lot from the way that you succeed in combining the thematic development work with related political issues. The way you connect those two aspects is something the Norwegians could draw lessons from
- Coming from a non EU-member state I will underline the importance for Norwegian partners to influence on the political outcomes from the project. We are an EEA-member. European policy influence on Norwegian policy.

All the best for future co-operation

Thank you
